Nov 30-Book Fair Starts!

Last month was full of successful MAPS testing, engaging parent chats, an AMAZING presentation from a Lincoln Street Alumni at Parent Club, and fun SEL virtual meets with our students. We are happy to be getting into the swing of our new normal and hope to finish the year stronger than ever! There are only 8.5 weeks of 2020 left. We made it this far, so why not finish super strong! Our book fair starts on the last day of the month and we are so excited for it! We hope to see you there.

"This would be for the K-2 grades or for any struggling reader really. I've been trying to promote families to find engaging ways to practice phonics and reading skills that is not all about paper pencil. It doesn't mention using play dough in this article, but anything tactile and fun will always help foster a love of learning. We don't want to make the process harder if you have a struggling reader. Again, even if a student is not a struggling reader, why not make it more engaging?! Change it up and know you have the freedom to move away from every worksheet and use hands-on techniques as credit for work." -Ms. Crystal, Lincoln Street School Teacher Extraordinaire

Organization

"Organizing was very important to me as a student. My mom had three kids to homeschool so she was always trying new things to make it easier. One thing that helped was reviewing what needed done in a given week and letting us help in planning."

Time Management

"Look at all the plans you have for the week. What days will be most productive? When will you be home the most? How much time does your student need to complete their given subject?"

Technology

"A lot of homework can be done on the computer, but it can also be a large distraction. Monitoring what is best for your student could mean, putting their device in another room, having them do computer work when you're beside them, or setting time aside for tv and fun later."

Individualize

"What worked for me didn't work for my sisters! I needed to sit down and finish in a single setting. However, my younger sister can't sit still! She needed the work spaced out."

LIFT-Live Inspired for Tomorrow

The Tehama County Continuum of Care is planning its 9th annual LIFT Tehama event. Due to the current pandemic restrictions and vendor limitations, the committee has decided to delay this event until March 2021. This event helps individuals and families who may be facing homelessness, or struggling to make ends meet. LIFT Tehama is designed to be a “one-stop-shop” for those needing access to critical resources including DMV issued ID cards, vital records, and Social Security services.

The Recycle the Warmth portion of the event will still be held November 20th, 2020 at the Tehama District Fairgrounds from 9am to 3pm. Their team will be providing free warm clothing and blankets to those in need.

LIFT Tehama would not be possible without our partner agencies and the many volunteers who come out to help our community on this day. As we gear up for the coming event, we are seeking volunteers to help our event become bigger and better than last year. There are many ways to volunteer. You can find the volunteer forms on the Continuum of Care website at www.tehamacoc.org

We are looking forward to successful events in 2020/2021.

Together we can make a difference in Tehama County!
